

Look to the Birds

Monday, January 15, 2018

For thousands of years people have been using birds to help locate new lands and to find fish to catch. Modern anglers still look to the skies to frigate birds, terns, and sea gulls to help give away the position of large schools of fish. Campers will learn the importance birds have both on land and in the water, they'll also make a bird feeder to help attract native birds to their own backyards.
